Suggestive Gowns Worse Than None, Says Dr. Ryan

Catholic University Professor Condemns Society's Taste in Clothes, Literature, Dancing and Magazine Covers. Addresses St. John's College Graduates.

Society's taste in clothes, literature, dancing and magazine covers were condemned by the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, of Catholic University, last night, at the graduation exercises of St. John's College, held at Carroll Hall. Suggestive gowns, he said, were worse than exposure.

"The movies," he said, were growing worse; women's dress was coming to a "more extreme form," and the fancies for periodical covers were not at all in good taste.

He hearkened back to the time when he had but four books in his home, when he was a boy, and declared in substance that too little in reading matter was better than too much.

Other speakers at the exercises were: Adjutant J. Dillon Fitzgerald, who outlined the "Declaration of Independence of Ireland and Its Signers"; Capt. B. J. Bogan, who discussed, "New Phases of the Immigration Problem"; Capt. Paul Ardesser, who talked on the "Pope and Peace"; and Lieut. James K. Polk, who discussed "Some Social and Economic Aspects of the Minimum Wage Law." William J. Curtis recited the "Watchman," and Paul A. Hines sang a solo. Music was furnished by the school orchestra.

Members of Committee.

On the reception committee were: J. Bowden Duryee, Denis E. Connell, William C. Murphy, James F. O'Donnell, Joseph L. Farley, William A. O'Dea, Bernard J. Boudren, James T. Ryan, Leo E. Madigan, John P. Daly, James J. Lynch, Joseph Lyons.

"Starve England Into Terms," Is War Cry of German Press

(By The Sun News Service.)

Amsterdam, June 16.—"Can England be starved into submission?" It is as yet a complete mystery on what actual basis this question appears with growing frequency at the top of articles in German newspapers, but the fact remains that it has become a sort of journalistic hobby in the empire. The matter usually printed under this heading is not editorial, but news coming from Germany via Amsterdam.

It is, of course, always news tending to answer the question which heads it in the affirmative. Here are a few examples of news items printed under London date lines in leading newspapers of Berlin and other large German cities, all bearing such captions as: "Can England Be Starved?" "Starvation War a Boomerang." "The English Are Hungry," and others in the same vein.

"It is believed that circumstances will shortly render it advisable that the people in the United Kingdom will be placed on meat rations. No actual shortages exist, the existing high prices arising from a deficiency due to the requirements of the forces in the field."

The British government is taking an inventory of all the foodstuffs in the United Kingdom.

"Meat is becoming more and more scarce and dear, and public sentiment is gradually assuming a character that may prompt the government to scrutinize the possibilities for peace."

The result of the publication of these items is that the conviction is growing stronger and stronger in Germany, if press comments are a criterion, that England is feeling the pinch of hunger, due principally to the fact that her merchant marine has been disastrously curtailed by the German submarines.

GAVIRA'S DEATH STIRS MEXICO.

Reported Execution of Juarez Commander Causes Sensation.

El Paso, Tex., June 16.—The reported execution in Mexico City of Gen. Gabriel Gavira, commander of the Juarez garrison, has created a tremendous sensation throughout North Mexico.

According to information received here today, Gavira was executed at the command of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, the minister of war in the de facto government, because he acted without authority in holding a conference with Brig. Gen. John D. Pershing recently to make plans for the co-operation of Mexican and American forces in running down Villa.

Following the conference Gen. Obregon repudiated the plans which were made by the conferees.

APPROPRIATIONS PRUNED IN BILL

Sum for Army Not Sufficient to Provide for 175,000 Men.

The appropriations carried in the army appropriation bill for the next fiscal year, reported to the House yesterday, fall short of the professions of the majority leaders in the matter of preparedness. The army reorganization bill, authorized an increase in the line of the army to 175,000 men. The bill as reported today provides money for only 165,000, exclusive of the staff corps.

The bill carries a total of $157,123,069. The same measure passed at the last session carried $161,974,156. "For the aviation corps only $1,222,100 is appropriated, including $50,000 to be devoted to the development of a suitable aeroplane motor. A half million dollars is given for the maintenance of summer military training camps. Pay for the National Guard, officers and men, amounts to $9,975,000.

The advisory commission of seven experts in industries, public utilities and natural resources, to be appointed by the President, is made possible in the bill by an appropriation of $200,000. The bill provides $10,000 for the purchase of armored motor cars.

RAIN KEEPS BANKERS NEAR DANCE PAVILION

Tango and One-step Main Diversions of the Day at Marshall Hall.

Members of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Bankers, yesterday held their annual excursion to Marshall Hall. The trip to the resort was made on the St. Johns and Charles Macalester. Despite the rain, more than 500 District bankers, assistant bankers and clerks attended the outing, while an equal number, bringing the party to more than 1,000, went as guests. A score of bankers from Baltimore attended. Dancing formed the principal pastime because of the inclement weather.

Roy L. Neuhauser, president of the Institute, was in charge of the excursion. A. Brunker, vice president, F. Pettit, treasurer; C. T. Beaumont, assistant treasurer; C. Ehninger, secretary, and A. H. Bardoe, assistant secretary, were others on the program. On the board of governors were C. D. Boyer, J. A. Pugett, H. Haynes, Burdette Kelly and R. E. Pollock.

The prizes offered by business men for individuals selling the most tickets for the excursion and prizes won in the competition for honors in the law examinations will be announced next week.

NO EXTRA MONEY FOR MARINE BAND

Musicians' Union Gets Clause in Bill Barring Orchestra from "Outside" Work.

Hereafter the public of the United States can expect to hear the United States Marine Band only by coming to Washington, or witnessing a parade in which the navy or Marine Corps is represented.

The Musicians' Union, through a provision inserted in the army reorganization bill, recently passed, has succeeded completely in excluding the band from participation in any concert, parade or other kind of entertainment where it might compete with civilian musical organizations, even though the entertainment might be for charity.

Following is the provision in question: "Hereafter no enlisted man in the service of the United States in the army, navy and Marine Corps, respectively, whether a noncommissioned officer, musician or private, shall be detailed, ordered or permitted to leave his post to engage in any pursuit, business or performance in civil life for gain, hire or otherwise, when the same shall interfere with the customary employment and regular engagement of local civilians in the respective acts, trades or professions."

Formerly it has been the practice of the band, when not engaged in their official duties, to make tours throughout the country, the proceeds being divided among the members of the organization. Under the new law, according to William H. Santelmann, the director, he has been advised that his men may not even participate as soloists in church entertainments.

For years the Musicians' Union has been trying to get such a provision through Congress. The section in the new law was inserted in the Senate at the instance of Senator Reed, of Missouri.

Attorney Doyle Denied Privilege of Seeing Client in Private.

London, June 16.—Attorney Michael Francis Doyle, of Philadelphia, who came here to assist the defense of Sir Roger Casement in the latter's trial on the charge of high treason, visited Sir Edward Grey at the foreign office this afternoon and complained that he was unable to see Sir Roger alone because prison attendants were always present who instated upon seeing all papers passed, who overheard everything that was spoken, and who made reports on it. Doyle said he declined to visit his client again unless he was able to see him privately. The foreign minister promised the American lawyer every facility to prepare the defense.

Half a century ago 1,500 English work-ers were employed at Whitby alone in the jet trade. Today not more than thirty or forty can be found in the whole country.
